Prudential Risk Rating

Lower to Medium Risk

These funds may invest in corporate bonds or multi-asset strategies with a higher weighting in corporate bonds (and other comparable strategies).

These risk ratings have been developed by Prudential to help provide an indication of a fund's potential level of risk and reward based on the type of assets which may be held by the fund. Other companies may use different descriptions and as such these risk ratings should not be considered as generic across the fund management industry.

We regularly review our fund risk ratings, so they may change in the future. If, in our view, there is a material change in the fund's level of risk, for example due to a significant change to the assets held by the fund or in the way the fund is managed, we will provide information on the new risk rating. We recommend that you make sure you understand the risk rating of any fund before you invest.

You should also consider discussing your decision and the appropriateness of a fund's risk rating with an adviser.

Important Information

- Because of changes in exchange rates the value of your investment, as well as any money you take from it, can go down as well as up.
- Some funds may invest in 'underlying' funds or other investment vehicles. The performance of our fund, compared to what it's invested in won't be exactly the same. That can be due to additional charges, cash management (needed to help people to enter and leave our fund when they want), tax and the timing of investments (this is known as a fund's dealing cycle, it varies between managers and can be several days).
- Source of portfolio data: Broadridge. Source of performance data: FE fundinfo. We can't predict the future. Past performance isn't a guide to future performance. The figures shown are intended only to demonstrate performance history of the fund, after allowing for the impact of fund charges and further costs, but take no account of any Annual Management Charge paid for by the deduction of units. Charges and further costs may vary in the future and may be higher than they are now. Fund performance is based upon the movement of the daily price and is shown as total return in GBP with gross income reinvested. The value of your investment can go down as well as up so you might get back less than you put in.
- This factsheet is intended for the trustees, sponsors, advisers and members of occupational pension schemes using Prudential group pension contracts and Prudential grouped personal pensions and Stakeholder pension contracts. Commentary

Performance as at Q3 2023 - The PPDG funds slightly underperformed the peer group on a relative basis, but around flat in absolute terms. On a tactical basis, we have relatively small positions reflecting the uncertain nature of markets currently. As such, over the quarter, the slight gain seen to the underweight in fixed income was more than offset by the small negative returns seen in our overweight US and Emerging Market equity future positions. The relatively flat equity and bond market returns belie a few interesting themes that were experienced during the third quarter. In local terms, some international equity markets experienced positive returns, however due to Sterling weakness, returns were roughly flat. Conversely, the currency weakness helped stocks with international exposure within the UK stock market rise by 1% in the three months to September. The currency weakness was attributable to the rapid rise seen in US yields seen in the summer, due to positive non-consensus US economic growth data printed during the quarter, which went against the soft-landing narrative seen in headlines. This was whilst UK gilt yields stayed roughly flat, leading to investors repricing interest rate differentials seen between the two countries.
