INVESTMENT OBJECTIVE

To provide an annualised income yield 1.5% higher than that of the Russell® 3000 Value Index which is paid quarterly, with the potential for capital growth.

INVESTMENT POLICY

The Fund aims to achieve the investment objective by principally investing in equity securities listed on regulated North American exchanges. Limited exposure to other geographic regions may be possible.

The Fund may also invest in other transferable securities, collective investment schemes, money market instruments, deposits, cash or near cash. The Fund may also use derivative instruments for the purposes of efficient portfolio management.

RISK PROFILE

The Fund will invest in North American equity markets. Movements in North American equity markets and currency fluctuations will affect Fund performance.

FUND MANAGER'S REPORT

Over the period ended 28 August 2016, the Fund (share class 1) delivered a total return of 18.02%* compared with an average return of 20.97% for the Russell® 3000 Value benchmark, an underperformance of 2.95%.

Over the period ended 28 August 2016, the Fund provided an income yield (before the deduction of charges and tax) of 3.32%, compared to the Russell® 3000 Value Index yield of 3.07%, an outperformance of 0.25% but falling short of its target of providing an annualised income yield 1.5% higher than that of the Index.

The market largely continued to grind higher during the second quarter, fuelled by rising oil prices, stable interest rates, and a passive Federal Reserve. However, near quarter end the market was rattled by the results of the European Union (EU) referendum in the UK ("Brexit"). Although the initial shock was substantial, after a brief panic, buyers once again stepped in and equity markets recovered much of the lost ground. Notable exceptions were the European banking and insurance industries, where many of the continent's largest financial institutions have revisited their 2008 - 2009 lows and are once again embroiled in concerns of contagion, especially from Italy. This divergence exposes the immediate loser in the Brexit vote – the EU apparatus. The inability of the EU's leadership to prevent the "impossible", the exit of the UK, appears to have shaken investors' conviction in the stability of the EU. Given the troubles, investors sought US safe havens as the dollar strengthened and US Treasury rates fell sharply during the quarter.

With the vast majority of Q2 earnings reporting completed for S&P 500 companies, the aggregate earnings decline was lower than expected at -3.2%, a significant improvement over the -6.7% decline in Q1 2016. While this marks the fifth consecutive quarter of decline, expectations are markedly improved for the latter half of the year. However, as it currently stands expectations are that earnings will still decline modestly over the course of 2016.

Broadly surveying the market, small caps significantly outperformed and value stocks led during the period. The Russell® 2000 Index returned 20.28%, outperforming the Russell® 1000 and the Russell® Midcap by 730 bps and 463 bps, respectively. Among investment styles, small cap value stocks outperformed their growth peers by 241 bps. The gap among large cap was even more substantial as value returned 14.72% versus 11.37% for growth.

All ten sectors in the Russell® 3000 Value posted positive returns in the period, with Materials (25.9%), Energy (21.4%), and Information Technology (20.6%) providing the highest returns. The worst performing sectors were Consumer Discretionary (9.0%), Utilities (9.2%), and Telecommunication Services (9.6%).

Looking at what worked during the period, overall sector allocation was marginally positive. The most significant positive impacts on relative performance were from the overweight in Information Technology and stock selection in Utilities. Both Utilities holdings outperformed the benchmark sector return.

The five holdings with the highest contribution to Portfolio return during the period were Iron Mountain Inc. (IRM, 33.2%), Quest Diagnostics Inc. (DGX, 24.6%), Ventas Inc. (VTR, 33.3%), Microsoft Corp. (MSFT, 14.6%), and Intel Corp. (INTC, 20.2%).

Speaking of what did not work, overall stock selection was negative and primarily responsible for the underperformance. The most significant negative impacts on relative performance were from stock selection in Information Technology and Industrials. Of the nine Information Technology holdings, seven underperformed the benchmark sector return, including j2 Global Inc. (JCOM, -19.3%), the fifth lowest contributor during the period. Seven of the nine holdings in Industrials also underperformed their respective benchmark return.

The other four holdings with the lowest contribution to Portfolio return during the period were Kohl's Corp. (KSS, -23.0%), GEO Group Inc. (GEO, -20.4%), Owens & Minor Inc. (OMI, -13.7%), and Target Corp. (TGT, -8.9%).

As of 28 August 2016, the Portfolio held a total of 58 positions. During the period, we established eight and eliminated ten positions. The five largest positions established were Amgen Inc. (AMGN, 16.9%), Johnson Controls Inc. (JCI, 8.7%), TE Connectivity Ltd. (TEL, 9.7%), Cardinal Health Inc. (CAH, 3.7%), and MetLife Inc. (MET, -3.8%). The five largest positions eliminated were Sysco Corp. (SYU, 6.7%), ADT Corp. (ADT, 3.9%), Republic Services Inc. (RSG, 7.6%), Molson Coors Brewing Co. (CB) (TAP, 17.2%), and Kohl's Corp. We eliminated the positions in SYU, RSG, and TAP as they were trading at premiums to their assessed valuations, KSS due to unrealised losses, and the position in ADT due to a takeover.

August was unusually quiet in US markets. The final reading for Q2 earnings was -3.2%, a modest improvement. However, Q3 earnings expectations have declined and the year-over-year growth rate is now expected to remain negative. Slow global economic growth, the strong dollar, low energy prices, and consumer weakness continue to weigh on expected results and the vast majority of S&P 500 companies that have updated guidance have been more negative. Combined with US markets hitting peak levels, it remains challenging to identify new investment opportunities with the attractive combination of conviction, discount, and yield required. We continue to refine our watch list and expect to use it for new ideas amid a market pullback. We do not expect this period of low volatility will be sustained in the run-up to the US election, and our outlook for the remainder of the year is tempered. We believe this environment continues to support a positive relative return expectation for the strategy.

FUND MANAGER'S REPORT

Over the period ended 28 August 2016, the Fund (share class 1) delivered a total return of 17.67%* compared with an average return of 20.97% for the Russell® 3000 Value benchmark, an underperformance of 3.3%.

Over the period ended 28 August 2016, the Fund provided an income yield (before the deduction of charges and tax) of 3.32%, compared to the Russell® 3000 Value Index yield of 3.07%, an outperformance of 0.25% but falling short of its target of providing an annualised income yield 1.5% higher than that of the Index.

The market largely continued to grind higher during the second quarter, fuelled by rising oil prices, stable interest rates, and a passive Federal Reserve. However, near quarter end the market was rattled by the results of the European Union (EU) referendum in the UK ("Brexit"). Although the initial shock was substantial, after a brief panic, buyers once again stepped in and equity markets recovered much of the lost ground. Notable exceptions were the European banking and insurance industries, where many of the continent's largest financial institutions have revisited their 2008 - 2009 lows and are once again embroiled in concerns of contagion, especially from Italy. This divergence exposes the immediate loser in the Brexit vote – the EU apparatus. The inability of the EU's leadership to prevent the "impossible," the exit of the UK, appears to have shaken investors' conviction in the stability of the EU. Given the troubles, investors sought US safe havens as the dollar strengthened and US Treasury rates fell sharply during the quarter.

With the vast majority of Q2 earnings reporting completed for S&P 500 companies, the aggregate earnings decline was lower than expected at -3.2%, a significant improvement over the -6.7% decline in Q1 2016. While this marks the fifth consecutive quarter of decline, expectations are markedly improved for the latter half of the year. However, as it currently stands expectations are that earnings will still decline modestly over the course of 2016.

Broadly surveying the market, small caps significantly outperformed and value stocks led during the period. The Russell® 2000 Index returned 20.28%, outperforming the Russell® 1000 and the Russell® Midcap by 730 bps and 463 bps, respectively. Among investment styles, small cap value stocks outperformed their growth peers by 241 bps. The gap among large cap was even more substantial as value returned 14.72% versus 11.37% for growth.

All ten sectors in the Russell® 3000 Value posted positive returns in the period, with Materials (25.9%), Energy (21.4%), and Information Technology (20.6%) providing the highest returns. The worst performing sectors were Consumer Discretionary (9.0%), Utilities (9.2%), and Telecommunication Services (9.6%).

Looking at what worked during the period, the most significant positive impacts on relative performance were from the overweight in Information Technology and stock selection in Utilities. Both Utilities holdings outperformed the benchmark sector return.

The five holdings with the highest contribution to Portfolio return during the period were Iron Mountain Inc. (IRM, 33.4%), Quest Diagnostics Inc. (DGX, 24.7%), Ventas Inc. (VTR, 33.4%), Microsoft Corp. (MSFT, 14.6%), and Intel Corp. (INTC, 20.3%).

Speaking of what did not work, overall sector allocation and stock selection were both negative and stock selection was primarily responsible for the underperformance. The most significant negative impacts on relative performance were from stock selection in Information Technology and Industrials. Of the eight Information Technology holdings, six underperformed the benchmark sector return, including j2 Global Inc. (JCOM, -19.3%), the fifth lowest contributor during the period. Seven of the nine holdings in Industrials also underperformed their respective benchmark return.

The other four holdings with the lowest contribution to Portfolio return during the period were Kohl's Corp. (KSS, -23.1%), GEO Group Inc. (GEO, -20.4%), Owens & Minor Inc. (OMI, -13.7%), and Target Corp. (TGT, -8.9%).

As of 28 August 2016, the Portfolio held a total of 52 positions. During the period, we established eight and eliminated nine positions. The five largest positions established were Amgen Inc. (AMGN, 16.9%), Johnson Controls Inc. (JCI, 8.7%), TE Connectivity Ltd. (TEL, 9.7%), Cardinal Health Inc. (CAH, 3.7%), and MetLife Inc. (MET, -3.8%). The five largest positions eliminated were Sysco Corp. (SYY, 6.7%), ADT Corp. (ADT, 3.9%), Republic Services Inc. (RSG, 7.6%), Molson Coors Brewing Co. (CI B) (TAP, 17.3%), and Kohl's Corp. We eliminated the positions in SYY, RSG, and TAP as they were trading at premiums to their assessed valuations, KSS due to unrealised losses, and the position in ADT due to a takeover.

August was unusually quiet in US markets. The final reading for Q2 earnings was -3.2%, a modest improvement. However, Q3 earnings expectations have declined and the year-over-year growth rate is now expected to remain negative. Slow global economic growth, the strong dollar, low energy prices, and consumer weakness continue to weigh on expected results and the vast majority of S&P 500 companies that have updated guidance have been more negative. Combined with US markets hitting peak levels, it remains challenging to identify new investment opportunities with the attractive combination of conviction, discount, and yield required. We continue to refine our watch list and expect to use it for new ideas amid a market pullback. We do not expect this period of low volatility will be sustained in the run-up to the US election, and our outlook for the remainder of the year is tempered. We believe this environment continues to support a positive relative return expectation for the strategy.

Prospectus Changes

On 12 August 2016, we made several updates to our prospectuses, as we do annually to include updated fund performance information and to make sure all elements of the prospectus are up to date. We also made some changes to the way in which the charges applicable to the funds are displayed, in order to make this clearer for our investors.

Fund Closures

The Aviva Investors Active Protector Fund, and the Aviva Investors Defined Returns Fund 10 both completed termination with effect from 14 June 2016.
