Standard Life Investments Global Absolute Return Strategies Fund Interim Report & Financial Statements

Trust Profile and Information

Launch Date

29 January 2008

Objective

The investment objective of the Trust is to deliver a positive absolute return in the form of capital growth over the medium to longer term in all market conditions.

Please note: With effect from 24 January 2014 the investment objective will be as detailed below. The objective is being updated to comply with a change to the rules of the Financial Conduct Authority.

The investment objective of the Trust is to deliver a positive absolute return in the form of capital growth over the medium to longer term in all market conditions. The level of return the Trust aims to generate over rolling three-year periods is equivalent to cash plus five per cent a year, gross of fees. Invested capital is however at risk and there is no guarantee that the objective will be attained.

Policy

The current investment policy of the Trust is to invest in permitted derivative contracts (including futures, options, swaps, forward currency contracts and other derivatives), transferable and fixed interest securities, cash and other collective investment schemes. Use may also be made of borrowing, efficient portfolio management (including hedging) and stock lending.

The Trust may, subject to and in accordance with the FCA Rules, take long and short positions in markets, securities and groups of securities through derivative contracts.

Risk Profile

There is no restriction on the proportion of the scheme property of the Trust which may be invested in transferable securities which are warrants. If more than 5% of the scheme property of the Trust is invested in warrants the net asset value of the Trust may, at times, be highly volatile. Call options are not deemed to be warrants for the purposes of this 5% limit.

This Trust is designed for investors who wish to participate in the opportunity to achieve a positive absolute return over the medium to longer term by investing in an actively managed portfolio consisting of derivatives, transferable securities, cash and collective investment schemes. The diversified nature of the portfolio makes it suitable for investors wishing to achieve a broad spread of exposure. The investor must be able to accept temporary capital losses due to the potentially volatile nature of the assets held and should therefore have an investment time horizon of at least 5 years.

The price of stocks, shares and other securities on financial markets can move unpredictably. Many factors affect prices, including announcements by the issuer of a security, economic and political events and views of prospective events. Investment in the Trust should be regarded as medium to long-term.

There is no guarantee that the objective of the Trust will be achieved.

In preparing the financial statements the Manager is required to:

Investment Report

Fund Manager: Standard Life Investments Multi Asset Investing Team

Investment background

For much of the period, markets were dominated by speculation over whether and when the US Federal Reserve (Fed) might begin to withdraw quantitative easing (QE). In mid-May, more nuanced comments from the Fed regarding its policy intentions sparked a sharp sell-off in risk assets, with emerging markets worst affected. At the same time, government and corporate bond yields rose sharply. Contributing to investors' unease, fears of a credit squeeze in China took hold, as the authorities there sought to impose greater lending discipline on the banks.

Markets remained volatile through the summer, until in September the Fed confounded expectations by opting to leave QE unchanged. This boosted sentiment across equity and bond markets through the remainder of the period. However, US equities were held back by growing concern about the latest US budget impasse. Emerging market equities recovered some lost ground but fears over the eventual curtailment of QE and a withdrawal of cheap money continued to drive capital outflows from emerging debt and capital markets. The US dollar weakened against the euro and sterling at the prospect of ongoing QE and the looming budget crisis.

Government bonds remained under pressure throughout the later months of the review period. Despite the headwind of rising government bond yields, credit markets stabilised in September and outperformed sovereign issues, supported by better-than-expected economic data.

Economic news turned increasingly favourable; GDP data showed that the Euro-zone bloc had emerged from recession, although not all member states grew. The UK economy made further progress, while US data were consistent with a subdued recovery, providing little justification yet for a tapering of monetary stimulus. Japan's better-than-expected GDP data further fuelled hopes of recovery. The Chinese economy also showed improvement.

Investment activity

We opened a new position favouring German versus French equities. This expresses our view that the advantage conferred by German government policy relative to French policy is not reflected in current valuations. This strategy replaced the German versus French duration strategy. We also established a new strategy preferring Japanese equities to Korean equities – we expect Japan's weak yen policy will give Japanese companies a competitive advantage over their Korean counterparts. We implemented a European forward start duration position. This reflects our view that interest rates in Europe will remain lower for longer than is priced in by the market.

We closed the European financial capital structure strategy and the European swaption steepener strategy. In both cases, the underlying elements had re-priced in line with our expectations. We also exited the US interest rate curve steepener strategy, which will not benefit from the eventual withdrawal by the Fed of quantitative easing. Elsewhere, we replaced the Russian equity basket with a basket of global oil majors' equity. Late in the quarter, we closed our US equity large cap versus small cap strategy, as headwinds for US small cap performance dissipated. We closed our position favouring the Indian rupee over the Singapore dollar, due to disappointment over reforms and continued concern over India's current account balance.

During the period to 30 September 2013 no material changes were made to the portfolio.

Performance

Over the period under review, the Trust returned -0.51% compared with the benchmark 6-month LIBOR return of 0.34% (Source: Datastream).

The Trust made good progress in the early part of the review period. However, during the risk sell-off in May, the Trust gave up ground, finishing marginally down over the first three months. During that time, our direct equity exposures detracted from performance. Within this, developed markets contributed positively, but this was insufficient to offset the dramatic fall in emerging market equities. Credit and duration positions also lost value, having re-priced on the back of rising Treasury yields. The Trust was positioned to be light in duration, which mitigated the impact to some extent.

Our equity relative value strategies as a group were marginally up in the first three months under review. Both the US equity technology versus Taiwan and the US equity technology versus small cap positions added value. Our equity market volatility strategies also made gains, helping to offset the loss from our direct equity exposures. However, we were not holding our target weight in these strategies as we were price-sensitive about entry levels. Our currency strategies were supportive, mainly due to weakness in commodity-linked currencies such as the Australian and Canadian dollars. The latter group was negatively impacted by fears of slowing commodities demand from China.

In the subsequent three month period, news that QE would continue for the time being drove strong performance from most of our equity and credit market positions. Performance in our duration strategies was modestly positive.

Reversing their earlier gains, our currency positions were the largest detractors from performance in the second half of the review period. The news of continued QE, combined with fears over the latest US budget crisis, drove weakness in the US dollar, hurting our positions preferring the US dollar against other major currencies. In addition, emerging market currencies were generally shunned by investors and our position favouring the Indian rupee versus the Singapore dollar dragged significantly on returns. This was despite our exiting the position during the quarter. Other negative contributors included our German versus French equities strategy and our Mexican rates versus the euro strategy.

Outlook and future strategy

Although global markets have been fixated on the US Federal Reserve, our conviction remains focused on those ideas substantiated by macro factors rather than those that aim to second-guess policy. The US dollar remains the world's reserve currency and the preferred safe haven in times of crisis. Equity returns should link to underlying economic growth and credit returns must adequately compensate for default risk. We will position the Trust for a modest global recovery, mindful that markets might again panic, while also anticipating the eventual beginning of the end of QE. This will allow markets to progress to a state more cognizant of the underlying economic fundamentals.

This indicator reflects the volatility of the Trust's unit price over the last five years which in turn reflects the volatility of the underlying assets in which the Trust invests. Historical data may not be a reliable indication of the future. Where the unit class does not have a history of five years, an alternative unit class or a representative benchmark has been used to show how the Trust price may have behaved over the period.

The current rating is not guaranteed and may change if the volatility of the assets in which the Trust invests changes. The lowest rating does not mean risk free.

All investment involves risk. This Trust offers no guarantee against loss or that the Trust's objective will be attained.

For further information on the risks that may not be fully captured by the risk and reward indicator, please refer to the current Key Investor Information Document (KIID).

This Trust holds "Over the Counter" (OTC) derivatives. This type of transaction gives rise to counterparty risk whereby the other party to the transaction may fail to fulfil their contractual obligations. Effective monitoring of counterparty credit risk is an important element of the management of the Trust, using the experience of the Manager's Credit Committee to carefully review counterparties transacted with.
Collateral requirements are actively managed, ensuring cash or securities are pledged against the performance of a contract where necessary. This mitigates any potential negative impact on the Trust in the unlikely event of a counterparty default. Whether or not each position is collateralised depends on whether a net liability is held with each counterparty, the specific agreements with individual counterparties and de minimis thresholds. As such there will be instances where the Trust is not required to hold collateral.
Any counterparties to derivative positions and the collateral amount and type held by the Trust as at 30 September 2013 is detailed in the table below:
