Important Information

- Because of changes in exchange rates the value of your investment, as well as any money you take from it, can go down as well as up.
- We can't predict the future. Past Performance isn't a guide to future performance. For the range of PruFund funds, what you receive will depend on the value of the underlying investments, the smoothing process, our charges, and when you take your money out.
- The capital guarantee, if applicable, is applied at the end of the guarantee term specified in your personal illustration document. The guarantees we provide are backed by the Prudential Assurance Company Limited (PAC) With-Profits Fund. We do not use a third party to back our guarantees. Some guarantees are currently closed to new investments.

The figures shown are intended only to demonstrate performance history of the fund, after allowing for the impact of fund charges and further costs, but take no account of product charges, or any Annual Management Charge paid for by the deduction of units. Charges and further costs may vary in the future and may be higher than they are now. For PruFund, as further costs are factored into the setting of Expected Growth Rates, they are not shown separately here. Fund performance is based upon the movement of the daily price and is shown as total return in GBP with net income reinvested. The value of your client's investment can go down as well as up and the amount your client gets back may be less than they put in.

Commentary

30 September 2025 The quarter was largely positive. Global stockmarkets continued to recover from the tariff-induced sell-off in April as worries about trade disruption eased. Initially, a month's delay in tariff implementation was welcomed. US trade deals with the EU and Japan, which included tariffs that were not as high as originally announced, also lifted sentiment. Market gains were also fuelled by strong corporate earnings, anticipation of Federal Reserve rate cuts, and continued enthusiasm around AI and technology innovation.

The best-performing equity regions were Asia ex Japan and Emerging Markets (EM). Chinese stocks rallied, with AI-related stocks, in particular, favoured by investors. South African equities were among the leaders in EM, whereas Argentina's stockmarket tumbled. Among developed markets, the US and Japan were ahead of Europe and the UK. The S&P 500 advanced 8.1% in dollar terms reaching new record highs.

Bond market returns were more modest, with concerns about inflation and fiscal positions weighing on sentiment, particularly in Europe. US Treasuries saw positive returns, supported by a 25-basis point rate cut. In contrast, UK government bonds declined, especially longer dated debt, although UK corporate bonds rose slightly.

Despite the generally upbeat environment, the price of gold continued to rise. Brent crude oil was flat over the three months, whereas gas prices fell slightly. The US dollar stabilised after falling sharply in the first half of the year. The M&G Treasury & Investment Office (T&IO) outlook is cautious as much uncertainty remains.
