Aims

The objective of this fund is to provide a combination of income and growth (if the income is reinvested) by tracking the performance of the FTSE Actuaries UK Index-Linked Gilts All Stocks Index. The fund will invest between 70% and 100% in bonds issued by the UK government (known as gilts). The fund's investments will closely match those that make up the Index. This Index consists of index-linked bonds which are issued by the UK Government. The return from these bonds is linked to changes in the rate of UK inflation. The gilts that the fund invests in will be investment grade bonds (rated as lower risk). The fund may use derivatives to reduce risk or cost, or to generate additional capital or income with no, or an acceptably low, level of risk.

Commentary

Gilt yields rose during December, with ten-year yields rising from 3.2% to 3.4%, while ten-year yields rose by 0.1%, 0.2% and 0.5% in France, Germany and the US respectively. While concerns lingered that the Eurozone sovereign debt crisis could yet spread to impact directly on larger 'peripheral' economies such as Spain or Italy, investors have recently given less weight to the 'safe haven' status of 'core' European bonds. Given the recent upturn in US economic sentiment and further positive signs over the health of the leading European economies, rising energy costs have flagged the risk that inflation could impact on the returns from fixed income assets. UK economic data remained positive on the whole during the month, though third-quarter Gross Domestic Product was revised down to 0.7% from the previous estimate of 0.8%. Meanwhile there was good news from the manufacturing sector, with production and manufacturing Purchasing Managers' Indices rising. Though interest rates were held at 0.5%, with the same three-way split in the voting by the Bank of England's Monetary Policy Committee, concerns mounted over the near-term outlook for inflation. November's consumer price index unexpectedly rose by 0.1% to a six-month high of 3.3%. Meanwhile, a surge in November's Public Sector Borrowing figures continued to underline the poor state of UK public finances.
