Prudential Risk Rating

Higher Risk

These are specialist equity funds that focus on set geographical regions or a particular type of share e.g. shares of smaller companies or those that conform to certain criteria.

These risk ratings have been developed by Prudential to help provide an indication of a fund's potential level of risk and reward based on the type of assets which may be held by the fund. Other companies may use different descriptions and as such these risk ratings should not be considered as generic across the fund management industry.

We regularly review our fund risk ratings, so they may change in the future. If, in our view, there is a material change in the fund's level of risk, for example due to a significant change to the assets held by the fund or in the way the fund is managed, we will provide information on the new risk rating. We recommend that you make sure you understand the risk rating of any fund before you invest.

You should also consider discussing your decision and the appropriateness of a fund's risk rating with an adviser.

- Some funds may invest in ‘underlying’ funds or other investment vehicles. The performance of our fund, compared to what it’s invested in won’t be exactly the same. That can be due to additional charges, cash management (needed to help people to enter and leave our fund when they want), tax and the timing of investments (this is known as a fund’s dealing cycle, it varies between managers and can be several days).

Commentary

Performance as at Q2 2025 - Stockmarkets were upended by President Trump's early April tariff proposals, which precipitated a swift and pronounced sell-off within global equities. Initially, Trump imposed a 10% baseline tariff on all imports, with elevated rates particularly for products from the EU, Japan and China, leading to fears of a global recession. However, a week later, the announcement of a 90-day suspension of these tariffs catalysed a pronounced recovery in equity markets. A US-UK trade deal and negotiations between the US and China during the quarter helped lift investor confidence that a global trade war could be avoided. Concerns about the escalation of geopolitical tensions in the Middle East when Israel attacked Iran's nuclear facilities also proved short-lived. By the end of the quarter most markets had recovered their earlier losses. In the UK, the large, blue-chip global companies in the FTSE 100 Index trailed their smaller, domestically focused counterparts over the quarter, partly because of weakness in international oil stocks and pharmaceutical firms.

In this environment, the fund recorded a positive return and was ahead of its benchmark, the FTSE All-Share Index. In terms of the underlying holdings in the fund, performance was led by a position in the M&G (ACS) BlackRock UK 200 Equity Fund, and to a lesser extent, the M&G (ACS) UK Listed Mid Cap Equity Fund. A holding in the M&G (ACS) UK Listed Equity Fund was broadly flat, while a position in the M&G (ACS) BlackRock UK All Share Equity Fund cost a little performance.
