Prudential Risk Rating

Higher Risk

These are specialist equity funds that focus on set geographical regions or a particular type of share e.g. shares of smaller companies or those that conform to certain criteria.

These risk ratings have been developed by Prudential to help provide an indication of a fund's potential level of risk and reward based on the type of assets which may be held by the fund. Other companies may use different descriptions and as such these risk ratings should not be considered as generic across the fund management industry.

We regularly review our fund risk ratings, so they may change in the future. If, in our view, there is a material change in the fund's level of risk, for example due to a significant change to the assets held by the fund or in the way the fund is managed, we will provide information on the new risk rating. We recommend that you make sure you understand the risk rating of any fund before you invest.

You should also consider discussing your decision and the appropriateness of a fund's risk rating with an adviser.

Important Information

- Some funds may invest in ‘underlying’ funds or other investment vehicles. The performance of our fund, compared to what it’s invested in won’t be exactly the same. That can be due to additional charges, cash management (needed to help people to enter and leave our fund when they want), tax and the timing of investments (this is known as a fund’s dealing cycle, it varies between managers and can be several days).

Commentary

Performance as at Q3 2025 - Financial markets generally fared well in the third quarter, with markets continuing to recover following the tariff-related sell-off earlier in the year. Investors' concern about the potential for trade disruption eased and sentiment improved, thanks to a month's delay in implementing tariffs, as well as trade deals between the US and the EU and with Japan. Investors' anticipation of US interest rate cuts, which materialised in September, also supported the mood. In the UK, the domestic stockmarket recorded another period of decent gains in the third quarter but returns trailed the broader global market. Larger companies, as included in the FTSE 100 Index, drove performance. The index benefited from a weaker pound, which increased the value of international firms' overseas earnings. Mid- and small-sized UK stocks are more exposed to the domestic economy and these were affected by worries about persistent inflation, slowing economic growth and the UK's fiscal position.

In this environment, the fund recorded a positive return and was behind its benchmark, the FTSE All-Share Index. In terms of the underlying holdings in the fund, performance was held back by positions in the M&G (ACS) BlackRock UK 200 Equity Fund, the M&G (ACS) UK Listed Mid Cap Equity Fund and, to a lesser extent, the M&G (ACS) BlackRock UK All Share Equity Fund. A holding in the M&G (ACS) UK Listed Equity Fund was supportive for performance.
