Prudential Risk Rating

Lower to Medium Risk

These funds may invest in corporate bonds or multi-asset strategies with a higher weighting in corporate bonds (and other comparable strategies).

These risk ratings have been developed by Prudential to help provide an indication of a fund's potential level of risk and reward based on the type of assets which may be held by the fund. Other companies may use different descriptions and as such these risk ratings should not be considered as generic across the fund management industry.

We regularly review our fund risk ratings, so they may change in the future. If, in our view, there is a material change in the fund's level of risk, for example due to a significant change to the assets held by the fund or in the way the fund is managed, we will provide information on the new risk rating. We recommend that you make sure you understand the risk rating of any fund before you invest.

You should also consider discussing your decision and the appropriateness of a fund's risk rating with an adviser.

Important Information

- Because of changes in exchange rates the value of your investment, as well as any money you take from it, can go down as well as up.
- Some funds may invest in 'underlying' funds or other investment vehicles. The performance of our fund, compared to what it's invested in won't be exactly the same. That can be due to additional charges, cash management (needed to help people to enter and leave our fund when they want), tax and the timing of investments (this is known as a fund's dealing cycle, it varies between managers and can be several days).
- Source of portfolio data: Broadridge. Source of performance data: FE fundinfo. We can't predict the future. Past performance isn't a guide to future performance. The figures shown are intended only to demonstrate performance history of the fund, after allowing for the impact of fund charges and further costs, but take no account of any Annual Management Charge paid for by the deduction of units. Charges and further costs may vary in the future and may be higher than they are now. Fund performance is based upon the movement of the daily price and is shown as total return in GBP with gross income reinvested. The value of your investment can go down as well as up so you might get back less than you put in.

Commentary

Performance as at Q2 2025 - In a volatile period, stock markets fell sharply early in the quarter in response to President Trump's tariff proposals which led to worries about a global recession. However, investors responded positively to the announcement of a 90-day suspension of tariffs, and most stock markets subsequently recovered their earlier losses. The US Federal Reserve and the Bank of England both left interest rates unchanged over the quarter, while the European Central Bank cut rates in May and June. Pacific and some emerging markets made solid gains in the quarter as US-China trade tensions eased. The UK was supported by a US-UK trade deal and increasing confidence that a global trade war could be avoided. In Europe, Germany, Italy and Spain registered decent gains, while France lagged the broader region. Despite macroeconomic turbulence, Japanese companies seem to be prioritising balance sheet optimisation, as witnessed by record-breaking dividend and share buyback announcements. Investors in the US stock market welcomed resilient economic data and encouraging company earnings results, although returns for overseas investors were dampened by the weakness of the US dollar. In the bond market, UK government bonds (gilts) outperformed US Treasuries and German bunds, with the 10-year gilt yield falling from 4.7% to 4.5% (and the price rose). Meanwhile, US corporate bonds rose by 1.9%, underscoring the economy's resilience amid policy uncertainty, while UK corporate bonds outperformed government debt. The fund maintains a small above-index allocation to equities, comprising a diversified basket of US, Asia and global emerging markets. The fund has some above-index positions in US Treasuries, UK gilts and real estate, with below-index allocations to US and European credit. The economic environment has remained resilient, but rising geopolitical tensions and trade uncertainty may begin to weigh on sentiment. The U.S. administration's proposed tariffs have been taken positively by the market so far, as the
