

Aims

Objective: The investment strategy of the fund is to purchase units in the M&G PP Positive Impact fund (the underlying fund). Underlying fund objective: The Fund has two aims:

- To provide combined capital growth and income, net of the Ongoing Charges Figure, that is higher than the MSCI ACWI Index over any five-year period.
- To make a positive impact by advancing progress towards the following six "impact outcomes": climate action; circular economy; environmental solutions; better health; social inclusion; better work and education.

The fund gains its exposure through the M&G Positive Impact Fund, an M&G OEIC, which is a concentrated portfolio of global stocks, investing over the long term in companies that contribute to the Sustainability Goal alongside a financial return, using a disciplined stock selection process. The fund has adopted the Sustainability Impact Label and "invests mainly" in solutions to sustainability problems, with an aim to achieve a positive impact for people or the planet. At least 80% of the fund is invested in companies across any sector and market capitalisation that are domiciled in any country, including emerging markets, which contribute towards the Sustainability Goal. Sustainability and impact considerations are fundamental in determining the fund's investment universe and assessing investees' business models. For each company invested in, the fund aims to achieve a pre-defined, positive, measurable impact in relation to the impact outcomes, measured using company-level key performance indicators. The fund invests at least 80% in the listed equities of companies across any sector and market capitalisation that are domiciled in any country, including emerging markets. The fund usually holds fewer than 40 stocks. The Fund may also invest in other transferable securities, cash, and near cash, directly or via collective investment schemes (including funds managed by M&G). Derivatives may be used for Efficient Portfolio Management and hedging.

Important Information

- Because of changes in exchange rates the value of your investment, as well as any money you take from it, can go down as well as up.
- Some funds may invest in 'underlying' funds or other investment vehicles. The performance of our fund, compared to what it's invested in won't be exactly the same. That can be due to additional charges, cash management (needed to help people to enter and leave our fund when they want), tax and the timing of investments (this is known as a fund's dealing cycle, it varies between managers and can be several days).

Charges and further costs may vary in the future and may be higher than they are now. Fund performance is based upon the movement of the daily price and is shown as total return in GBP with gross income reinvested. The value of your investment can go down as well as up so you might get back less than you put in.

Prudential Risk Rating

Medium to Higher Risk

These funds offer a diverse geographical spread of equity investment or have multi-asset strategies with a specialist focus (e.g. ethical). The equity funds within this category will have greater overseas exposure and underlying volatility than the "medium" sector.

These risk ratings have been developed by Prudential to help provide an indication of a fund's potential level of risk and reward based on the type of assets which may be held by the fund. Other companies may use different descriptions and as such these risk ratings should not be considered as generic across the fund management industry.

We regularly review our fund risk ratings, so they may change in the future. If, in our view, there is a material change in the fund's level of risk, for example due to a significant change to the assets held by the fund or in the way the fund is managed, we will provide information on the new risk rating. We recommend that you make sure you understand the risk rating of any fund before you invest.

You should also consider discussing your decision and the appropriateness of a fund's risk rating with an adviser.

Commentary

Performance as at Q3 2025 - Stockpicking in the technology and industrials sectors proved detrimental to relative performance. The fund's overweight to healthcare also had a negative impact on relative returns. In contrast, the fund's lack of exposure to consumer staples had a positive effect on relative performance, as did stock selection in healthcare.

Key detractors from relative performance included Novo Nordisk and HDFC Bank. In July, Novo Nordisk's share price dropped sharply after it slashed its full-year guidance and announced a new CEO. The company now anticipates less growth for its diabetes and weight-loss medications (Ozempic and Wegovy). This is partly due to increased competition. The pharmaceutical company's share price declined again in September. Investors are worried that demand for Novo Nordisk's GLP-1 medications (Wegovy and Ozempic) is waning. There are also concerns that upcoming trial results on the efficacy of GLP-1 drugs in the treatment of Alzheimer's may be underwhelming.

The top contributors to relative performance were Ansys (acquired by Synopsys in July) and eBay. In July, eBay's share price rose steeply after it released impressive quarterly results and issued solid guidance.

Synopsys completed its acquisition of Ansys in July. Under the terms of the corporate action, Ansys's shares were removed (de-listed) in return for cash and Synopsys shares.

The fund has been caught between investors seeking risk in deep value and investors with high growth expectations. Low growth and steady free cash flow generation have not been appreciated by the market, which is currently in "risk-on" mode. The market has been extraordinarily sensitive to changes in momentum. The healthcare sector has been particularly vulnerable to this, but fundamental conditions seem to be bottoming out, and the political overhang is slightly easing. We are comfortable with our large overweight to the sector.

Our underweight to the AI sphere (and lack of exposure to the "Magnificent Seven" mega-cap tech stocks) is a result of our mandate. However, we also believe that the "Magnificent Seven" are facing increasing performance hurdles as the focus shifts from valuation to returns from the companies' massive capex programmes, as well as to the inherent technology risks.
