Prudential Risk Rating

Higher Risk

These are specialist equity funds that focus on set geographical regions or a particular type of share e.g. shares of smaller companies or those that conform to certain criteria.

These risk ratings have been developed by Prudential to help provide an indication of a fund's potential level of risk and reward based on the type of assets which may be held by the fund. Other companies may use different descriptions and as such these risk ratings should not be considered as generic across the fund management industry.

We regularly review our fund risk ratings, so they may change in the future. If, in our view, there is a material change in the fund's level of risk, for example due to a significant change to the assets held by the fund or in the way the fund is managed, we will provide information on the new risk rating. We recommend that you make sure you understand the risk rating of any fund before you invest.

You should also consider discussing your decision and the appropriateness of a fund's risk rating with an adviser.

Important Information

- Some funds may invest in 'underlying' funds or other investment vehicles. The performance of our fund, compared to what it's invested in won't be exactly the same. That can be due to additional charges, cash management (needed to help people to enter and leave our fund when they want), tax and the timing of investments (this is known as a fund's dealing cycle, it varies between managers and can be several days).

Commentary

Performance as at Q1 2022 - The UK stockmarket, led by the FTSE 100 larger companies index, proved to be remarkably resilient in a difficult start to the year, ending just in positive territory for a sixth-successive quarter and ahead of the major regional equity markets in local currency terms. The dominant events of the first quarter were the crisis in Ukraine and swingeing sanctions on Russia. Risk appetite improved towards the period end as the two sides met for peace talks. Before these took centre stage, investors had been fretting about a sharp uptick in inflation, to 6.2% in the UK - caused by surging commodity prices and supply disruptions - leading bond yields to spike upwards in anticipation of tighter monetary policy. The Bank of England duly raised interest rates twice to 0.75%. Against this background, a weaker trend in sterling supported the FTSE 100, along with a substantial exposure to resources and more defensive sectors such as pharmaceuticals, telecoms, tobacco and utilities, as well as banks which benefited from the interest rate move.
