Prudential Risk Rating

Higher Risk

These are specialist equity funds that focus on set geographical regions or a particular type of share e.g. shares of smaller companies or those that conform to certain criteria.

These risk ratings have been developed by Prudential to help provide an indication of a fund's potential level of risk and reward based on the type of assets which may be held by the fund. Other companies may use different descriptions and as such these risk ratings should not be considered as generic across the fund management industry.

We regularly review our fund risk ratings, so they may change in the future. If, in our view, there is a material change in the fund's level of risk, for example due to a significant change to the assets held by the fund or in the way the fund is managed, we will provide information on the new risk rating. We recommend that you make sure you understand the risk rating of any fund before you invest.

You should also consider discussing your decision and the appropriateness of a fund's risk rating with an adviser.

Important Information

- Because of changes in exchange rates the value of your investment, as well as any money you take from it, can go down as well as up.
- Some funds may invest in 'underlying' funds or other investment vehicles. The performance of our fund, compared to what it's invested in won't be exactly the same. That can be due to additional charges, cash management (needed to help people to enter and leave our fund when they want), tax and the timing of investments (this is known as a fund's dealing cycle, it varies between managers and can be several days).

Commentary

Performance as at Q1 2022 - The first quarter of 2022 presented US investors with many reasons to be wary of holding shares. Not only did inflation hit levels not seen for 40 years, prompting the Federal Reserve to raise interest rates for the first time since 2018, with many more hikes predicted, but Russia launched an invasion of Ukraine. Investors now have to consider what effect the conflict, and the sanctions imposed on Russia, might have on the global economy. US stockmarkets fell during the quarter, with falls led by the technology-dominated Nasdaq, although losses were reduced by strong rallies late in March. In terms of sectors, the biggest falls were suffered by technology and consumer discretionary companies, while energy producers rallied strongly, helped by surging oil prices. Canada's stockmarket, however, delivered a positive return, boosted by higher commodity prices.
