Vanguard Global Stock Index Fund

Managed by Vanguard Global Advisers, LLC.

Investment Objective

The fund seeks to provide long-term growth of capital by tracking the performance of the MSCI World Index, a market-capitalisation-weighted index of common stocks of companies in developed countries.

Performance Summary (unaudited)

The Performance Summary does not form part of the Financial Statements.

- Global financial markets performed unevenly for the 12 months ended 31 December 2024.
- Across much of the developed world in the first part of the year, consumer price increases continued to moderate, labour markets remained strong and interest rates appeared to have peaked. With that supportive backdrop and with high hopes for artificial intelligence, stocks gained ground and a number of major market indices hit record highs.
- As the year progressed, investor sentiment was dented at times by some disappointing economic reports, weak readings from the manufacturing sector and a surprise rate hike by the Bank of Japan. The global economy nevertheless continued to expand, and further progress against inflation led a number of Western central banks to cut interest rates. The European Central Bank began to do so in June, the Bank of England in August and the US Federal Reserve in September.
- Global stocks posted strong gains for the period, with the United States performing particularly well.
- In this environment, the fund's benchmark index returned 18.67% for the 12 months.
- Ten of the index's 11 industry sectors produced positive returns, with six posting double-digit gains. Information technology – the largest sector in the index – contributed the most to returns, followed by financials, communication services and consumer discretionary. Materials slightly detracted.
- US stocks, which accounted for more than two-thirds of the index, outperformed the benchmark as a whole. Among the largest markets in the index, only France and Switzerland detracted.

Benchmark returns in the commentary above are in US dollars.

Returns are based on NAV with income reinvested.

All of the returns in this report represent past performance, which is not a guarantee of future results that may be achieved by the fund. For performance data current to the most recent month-end, which may be higher or lower than that cited, visit our website at <http://global.vanguard.com>. Note, too, that both investment returns and principal value can fluctuate widely, so an investor's shares, when sold, could be worth more or less than their original cost.

* The tracking difference between the fund return and the index return over a stated period of time can be attributed to a number of factors, including, without limitation, small differences in weightings, trading activity, swing pricing, transaction costs and differences in the valuation and withholding tax treatment between the fund and the index vendor.

The Central Bank of Ireland requires a schedule of material changes in the composition of the portfolio during the year. These are defined as aggregate purchases of a security exceeding 1% of the total value of purchases for the year and aggregate disposals greater than 1% of the total value of sales. At a minimum, the largest 20 purchases and 20 sales must be shown; all purchases and sales must be shown if there are fewer than 20. A full listing of the portfolio changes for the year is available, upon request, at no extra cost from the Administrator.

Vanguard Japan Stock Index Fund

Managed by Vanguard Global Advisers, LLC.

Investment Objective

The fund seeks to track the performance of the MSCI Japan Index, which emphasises stocks of companies located in Japan.

Performance Summary (unaudited)

The Performance Summary does not form part of the Financial Statements.

- Global financial markets performed unevenly for the 12 months ended 31 December 2024.
- Across much of the developed world in the first part of the year, consumer price increases continued to moderate, labour markets remained strong and interest rates appeared to have peaked. With that supportive backdrop and with high hopes for artificial intelligence, stocks gained ground and a number of major market indices hit record highs.
- As the year progressed, investor sentiment was dented at times by some disappointing economic reports, weak readings from the manufacturing sector and a surprise rate hike by the Bank of Japan. The global economy nevertheless continued to expand, and further progress against inflation led a number of Western central banks to cut interest rates. The European Central Bank began to do so in June, followed by the Bank of England in August and the US Federal Reserve in September.
- Global stocks posted strong gains for the period, with the United States performing particularly well.
- In this environment, Japanese equities ended the year higher overall. The fund's benchmark index returned 15.54% for the 12 months.
- Results were positive in nine of the index's 11 industry sectors, led by financials and industrials. Consumer discretionary was also a top contributor. Materials and utilities detracted slightly.

Benchmark returns in the commentary above are in euros.

Returns are based on NAV with income reinvested.

All of the returns in this report represent past performance, which is not a guarantee of future results that may be achieved by the fund. For performance data current to the most recent month-end, which may be higher or lower than that cited, visit our website at <http://global.vanguard.com>. Note, too, that both investment returns and principal value can fluctuate widely, so an investor's shares, when sold, could be worth more or less than their original cost.

* The tracking difference between the fund return and the index return over a stated period of time can be attributed to a number of factors, including, without limitation, small differences in weightings, trading activity, swing pricing, transaction costs and differences in the valuation and withholding tax treatment between the fund and the index vendor.

The Central Bank of Ireland requires a schedule of material changes in the composition of the portfolio during the year. These are defined as aggregate purchases of a security exceeding 1% of the total value of purchases for the year and aggregate disposals greater than 1% of the total value of sales. At a minimum, the largest 20 purchases and 20 sales must be shown; all purchases and sales must be shown if there are fewer than 20. A full listing of the portfolio changes for the year is available, upon request, at no extra cost from the Administrator.

Vanguard Pacific ex-Japan Stock Index Fund

Managed by Vanguard Global Advisers, LLC.

Investment Objective

The fund seeks to provide long-term growth of capital by tracking the performance of the MSCI Pacific ex-Japan Index, which is made up of common stocks of companies located in the Pacific region.

Performance Summary (unaudited)

The Performance Summary does not form part of the Financial Statements.

- Global financial markets performed unevenly for the 12 months ended 31 December 2024.
- Across much of the developed world in the first part of the year, consumer price increases continued to moderate, labour markets remained strong and interest rates appeared to have peaked. With that supportive backdrop and with high hopes for artificial intelligence, stocks gained ground and a number of major market indices hit record highs.
- As the year progressed, investor sentiment was dented at times by some disappointing economic reports, weak readings from the manufacturing sector and a surprise rate hike by the Bank of Japan. The global economy nevertheless continued to expand, and further progress against inflation led a number of Western central banks to cut interest rates. The European Central Bank began to do so in June, followed by the Bank of England in August and the US Federal Reserve in September.
- Global stocks posted strong gains for the period, with the United States performing particularly well.
- Pacific markets excluding Japan finished the year higher overall. The fund's benchmark index returned 11.57% for the 12 months.
- Results were positive in eight of the index's 11 industry sectors. Financials accounted for nearly 40% of the index's weighting and stood out as by far the top contributor, posting a 26.4% return. Materials detracted the most.
- Australia was the largest-weighted market and contributed most to performance. Singapore strongly outperformed the benchmark, returning 41.1%.

Benchmark returns in the commentary above are in euros.

Returns are based on NAV with income reinvested.

All of the returns in this report represent past performance, which is not a guarantee of future results that may be achieved by the fund. For performance data current to the most recent month-end, which may be higher or lower than that cited, visit our website at <http://global.vanguard.com>. Note, too, that both investment returns and principal value can fluctuate widely, so an investor's shares, when sold, could be worth more or less than their original cost.

* The tracking difference between the fund return and the index return over a stated period of time can be attributed to a number of factors, including, without limitation, small differences in weightings, trading activity, swing pricing, transaction costs and differences in the valuation and withholding tax treatment between the fund and the index vendor.

The Central Bank of Ireland requires a schedule of material changes in the composition of the portfolio during the year. These are defined as aggregate purchases of a security exceeding 1% of the total value of purchases for the year and aggregate disposals greater than 1% of the total value of sales. At a minimum, the largest 20 purchases and 20 sales must be shown; all purchases and sales must be shown if there are fewer than 20. A full listing of the portfolio changes for the year is available, upon request, at no extra cost from the Administrator.

Vanguard U.S. 500 Stock Index Fund

Managed by Vanguard Global Advisers, LLC.

Investment Objective

The fund seeks to track the performance of the S&P 500 Index, a widely recognised benchmark of US stock market performance that is dominated by the stocks of large US companies.

Performance Summary (unaudited)

The Performance Summary does not form part of the Financial Statements.

- Global financial markets performed unevenly for the 12 months ended 31 December 2024.
- Across much of the developed world in the first part of the year, consumer price increases continued to moderate, labour markets remained strong and interest rates appeared to have peaked. With that supportive backdrop and with high hopes for artificial intelligence, stocks gained ground and a number of major market indices hit record highs.
- As the year progressed, investor sentiment was dented at times by some disappointing economic reports, weak readings from the manufacturing sector and a surprise rate hike by the Bank of Japan. The global economy nevertheless continued to expand, and further progress against inflation led a number of Western central banks to cut interest rates. The European Central Bank began to do so in June, the Bank of England in August and the US Federal Reserve in September.
- Global bonds returned –1.69%, as measured by the Bloomberg Global Aggregate Index in US dollars on an unhedged basis. US bonds, however, finished in positive territory.
- Global stocks returned 16.69%, as measured by the FTSE Global All Cap Index in US dollars. By region, the US turned in a stronger performance than the rest of the world as a whole.
- In this environment, the fund's benchmark index returned 24.50% for the 12 months.
- Ten of the index's 11 industry sectors produced positive returns, with seven posting double-digit gains. Information technology – the largest sector in the index – contributed by far the most to returns. Financials, communication services and consumer discretionary were also standouts.

Benchmark returns in the commentary above are in US dollars.

Returns are based on NAV with income reinvested.

All of the returns in this report represent past performance, which is not a guarantee of future results that may be achieved by the fund. For performance data current to the most recent month-end, which may be higher or lower than that cited, visit our website at <http://global.vanguard.com>. Note, too, that both investment returns and principal value can fluctuate widely, so an investor's shares, when sold, could be worth more or less than their original cost.

* The tracking difference between the fund return and the index return over a stated period of time can be attributed to a number of factors, including, without limitation, small differences in weightings, trading activity, swing pricing, transaction costs and differences in the valuation and withholding tax treatment between the fund and the index vendor.

The Central Bank of Ireland requires a schedule of material changes in the composition of the portfolio during the year. These are defined as aggregate purchases of a security exceeding 1% of the total value of purchases for the year and aggregate disposals greater than 1% of the total value of sales. At a minimum, the largest 20 purchases and 20 sales must be shown; all purchases and sales must be shown if there are fewer than 20. A full listing of the portfolio changes for the year is available, upon request, at no extra cost from the Administrator.

Vanguard U.S. Opportunities Fund

Managed by Vanguard Global Advisers, LLC, and sub-managed by PRIMECAP Management Company.

Investment Objective

The fund seeks to provide long-term growth of capital by investing in stocks with above-average earnings growth potential that is not reflected in their current market prices.

Performance Summary (unaudited)

The Performance Summary does not form part of the Financial Statements.

- Global financial markets performed unevenly for the 12 months ended 31 December 2024.
- Across much of the developed world in the first part of the year, consumer price increases continued to moderate, labour markets remained strong and interest rates appeared to have peaked. With that supportive backdrop and with high hopes for artificial intelligence, stocks gained ground and a number of major market indices hit record highs.
- As the year progressed, investor sentiment was dented at times by some disappointing economic reports, weak readings from the manufacturing sector and a surprise rate hike by the Bank of Japan. The global economy nevertheless continued to expand, and further progress against inflation led a number of Western central banks to cut interest rates. The European Central Bank began to do so in June, the Bank of England in August and the US Federal Reserve in September.
- Global bonds returned  $-1.69\%$ , as measured by the Bloomberg Global Aggregate Index in US dollars on an unhedged basis. US bonds, however, finished in positive territory.
- Global stocks returned  $16.69\%$ , as measured by the FTSE Global All Cap Index in US dollars. By region, the US turned in a stronger performance than the rest of the world as a whole.
- In this environment, the fund's benchmark returned  $23.31\%$  for the 12 months.
- Seven of the index's 11 industry sectors recorded double-digit gains. Information technology, which accounted for more than 25% of the index, contributed the most to the index's performance. Materials, real estate and energy contributed the least.
- The fund underperformed its benchmark by a wide margin largely due to selection in information technology and an overweight to health care. Underperformance also owed to an underweight to and selection in communication services. An underweight to and selection in materials added the most to relative performance, as did having no exposure to real estate.

Benchmark returns in the commentary above are in US dollars.

The Central Bank of Ireland requires a schedule of material changes in the composition of the portfolio during the year. These are defined as aggregate purchases of a security exceeding 1% of the total value of purchases for the year and aggregate disposals greater than 1% of the total value of sales. At a minimum, the largest 20 purchases and 20 sales must be shown; all purchases and sales must be shown if there are fewer than 20. A full listing of the portfolio changes for the year is available, upon request, at no extra cost from the Administrator.

Vanguard 20+ Year Euro Treasury Index Fund

Managed by Vanguard Global Advisers, LLC.

Investment Objective

The fund seeks to provide returns consistent with the performance of the Bloomberg Euro Treasury 20+ Year Bond Index, a market-weighted index designed to reflect the total universe of euro-denominated euro zone treasury securities with maturities of at least 20 years and a minimum credit rating of AA-.

Performance Summary (unaudited)

The Performance Summary does not form part of the Financial Statements.

- Global financial markets performed unevenly for the 12 months ended 31 December 2024.
- Across much of the developed world in the first part of the year, consumer price increases continued to moderate, labour markets remained strong and interest rates appeared to have peaked. With that supportive backdrop and with high hopes for artificial intelligence, stocks gained ground and a number of major market indices hit record highs.
- As the year progressed, investor sentiment was dented at times by some disappointing economic reports, weak readings from the manufacturing sector and a surprise rate hike by the Bank of Japan. The global economy nevertheless continued to expand, and further progress against inflation led a number of Western central banks to cut interest rates. The European Central Bank began to do so in June, the Bank of England in August and the US Federal Reserve in September.
- The fund's benchmark index returned -4.73% for the 12 months.
- Except for Ireland and Austria, all countries in the index posted negative returns. France, which reported a return of -7.94%, fared worst.
- Bonds of all maturities declined, but bonds with maturities of 20 to 30 years, which represent the bulk of the fund's holdings, performed better than those with maturities of 30 or more years.
- AAA bonds and AA bonds lost ground, with the higher-rated securities faring better.

Benchmark returns in the commentary above are in euros.

Returns are based on NAV with income reinvested.

All of the returns in this report represent past performance, which is not a guarantee of future results that may be achieved by the fund. For performance data current to the most recent month-end, which may be higher or lower than that cited, visit our website at <http://global.vanguard.com>. Note, too, that both investment returns and principal value can fluctuate widely, so an investor's shares, when sold, could be worth more or less than their original cost.

* The tracking difference between the fund return and the index return over a stated period of time can be attributed to a number of factors, including, without limitation, small differences in weightings, trading activity, swing pricing, transaction costs and differences in the valuation and withholding tax treatment between the fund and the index vendor.

The Central Bank of Ireland requires a schedule of material changes in the composition of the portfolio during the year. These are defined as aggregate purchases of a security exceeding 1% of the total value of purchases for the year and aggregate disposals greater than 1% of the total value of sales. At a minimum, the largest 20 purchases and 20 sales must be shown; all purchases and sales must be shown if there are fewer than 20. A full listing of the portfolio changes for the year is available, upon request, at no extra cost from the Administrator.

Vanguard Emerging Markets Bond Fund

Managed by Vanguard Global Advisers, LLC.

Investment Objective

The Fund seeks to provide total return while generating a moderate level of income by investing primarily in bonds of issuers in emerging-market countries.

Performance Summary (unaudited)

The Performance Summary does not form part of the Financial Statements. The fund is actively managed and seeks to invest as described in the prospectus. The following performance information shows how the fund's returns compare with those of the J.P. Morgan EMBI Global Diversified Index, a market index that has investment characteristics similar to those of the fund.

- Global financial markets performed unevenly for the 12 months ended 31 December 2024.
- Across much of the developed world in the first part of the year, consumer price increases continued to moderate, labour markets remained strong and interest rates appeared to have peaked. With that supportive backdrop and with high hopes for artificial intelligence, stocks gained ground and a number of major market indices hit record highs.
- As the year progressed, investor sentiment was dented at times by some disappointing economic reports, weak readings from the manufacturing sector and a surprise rate hike by the Bank of Japan. The global economy nevertheless continued to expand, and further progress against inflation led a number of Western central banks to cut interest rates. The European Central Bank began to do so in June, the Bank of England in August and the US Federal Reserve in September.
- Global stocks returned 16.69%, as measured by the FTSE Global All Cap Index in US dollars. By region, the US turned in a stronger performance than the rest of the world as a whole.
- Global bonds returned -1.69%, as measured by the Bloomberg Global Aggregate Index in US dollars on an unhedged basis. US bonds, however, finished in positive territory.
- For the 12 months, the fund outpaced its benchmark index, which returned 6.54%.
- Security selection in Romania and Colombia and an allocation to Indonesia contributed most to the outperformance. Underweight allocations to Argentina, Lebanon and Pakistan detracted.
- Rates positioning (long Brazilian rates and short US rates) detracted overall, as did forex positioning (short USD in the first half of the year).

Benchmark returns in the commentary above are in US dollars.

The Central Bank of Ireland requires a schedule of material changes in the composition of the portfolio during the year. These are defined as aggregate purchases of a security exceeding 1% of the total value of purchases for the year and aggregate disposals greater than 1% of the total value of sales. At a minimum, the largest 20 purchases and 20 sales must be shown; all purchases and sales must be shown if there are fewer than 20. A full listing of the portfolio changes for the year is available, upon request, at no extra cost from the Administrator.

Vanguard ESG Global Corporate Bond Index Fund

Managed by Vanguard Global Advisers, LLC.

Investment Objective

The fund seeks to provide returns consistent with the performance of the Bloomberg MSCI Corporate Float-Adjusted Bond Screened Index, a multi-currency benchmark that includes investment grade corporate fixed-rate bonds from both developed and emerging markets issuers.

Performance Summary (unaudited)

The Performance Summary does not form part of the Financial Statements.

- Global financial markets performed unevenly for the 12 months ended 31 December 2024.
- Across much of the developed world in the first part of the year, consumer price increases continued to moderate, labour markets remained strong and interest rates appeared to have peaked. With that supportive backdrop and with high hopes for artificial intelligence, stocks gained ground and a number of major market indices hit record highs.
- As the year progressed, investor sentiment was dented at times by some disappointing economic reports, weak readings from the manufacturing sector and a surprise rate hike by the Bank of Japan. The global economy nevertheless continued to expand, and further progress against inflation led a number of Western central banks to cut interest rates. The European Central Bank began to do so in June, the Bank of England in August and the US Federal Reserve in September.
- Global stocks returned 16.69%, as measured by the FTSE Global All Cap Index in US dollars. By region, the US turned in a stronger performance than the rest of the world as a whole.
- Global bonds returned -16.69%, as measured by the Bloomberg Global Aggregate Index in US dollars on an unhedged basis. US bonds, however, finished in positive territory.
- The fund's benchmark index returned 3.74% for the 12 months.
- By country, the United States, which has the largest weighting in the index, underperformed the index as a whole. Other index heavyweights including Germany, Spain, Canada and France outperformed.
- By sector, bonds issued by financial institutions returned more than those issued by industrial companies and utilities.
- From a credit-quality perspective, bonds on the bottom rung of the investment-grade ladder performed better than their higher-rated counterparts. By maturity, shorter-dated bonds produced the strongest returns.

Benchmark returns in the commentary above are in US dollars.

All of the returns in this report represent past performance, which is not a guarantee of future results that may be achieved by the fund. For performance data current to the most recent month-end, which may be higher or lower than that cited, visit our website at <http://global.vanguard.com>. Note, too, that both investment returns and principal value can fluctuate widely, so an investor's shares, when sold, could be worth more or less than their original cost.

* The tracking difference between the fund return and the index return over a stated period of time can be attributed to a number of factors, including, without limitation, small differences in weightings, trading activity, swing pricing, transaction costs and differences in the valuation and withholding tax treatment between the fund and the index vendor.

The Central Bank of Ireland requires a schedule of material changes in the composition of the portfolio during the year. These are defined as aggregate purchases of a security exceeding 1% of the total value of purchases for the year and aggregate disposals greater than 1% of the total value of sales. At a minimum, the largest 20 purchases and 20 sales must be shown; all purchases and sales must be shown if there are fewer than 20. A full listing of the portfolio changes for the year is available, upon request, at no extra cost from the Administrator.

Vanguard Euro Government Bond Index Fund

Managed by Vanguard Global Advisers, LLC.

Investment Objective

The fund seeks to provide returns consistent with the performance of the Bloomberg Euro Government Float Adjusted Bond Index, a market-weighted index designed to reflect the total universe of euro-denominated euro zone treasury and government-related securities with maturities greater than 1 year.

Performance Summary (unaudited)

The Performance Summary does not form part of the Financial Statements.

- Global financial markets performed unevenly for the 12 months ended 31 December 2024.
- Across much of the developed world in the first part of the year, consumer price increases continued to moderate, labour markets remained strong and interest rates appeared to have peaked. With that supportive backdrop and with high hopes for artificial intelligence, stocks gained ground and a number of major market indices hit record highs.
- As the year progressed, investor sentiment was dented at times by some disappointing economic reports, weak readings from the manufacturing sector and a surprise rate hike by the Bank of Japan. The global economy nevertheless continued to expand, and further progress against inflation led a number of Western central banks to cut interest rates. The European Central Bank began to do so in June, the Bank of England in August and the US Federal Reserve in September.
- The fund's benchmark index returned 1.95% for the 12 months.
- With the exception of France, all countries in the benchmark index reported positive returns. Of the countries that make up a significant proportion of the index, Italy reported the highest return for the period, at 5.27%.
- Bonds with the shortest maturities reported the largest gains, while those with maturities of 20 years or more lost value. In terms of quality, lower-rated bonds generally performed better.

Benchmark returns in the commentary above are in euros.

All of the returns in this report represent past performance, which is not a guarantee of future results that may be achieved by the fund. For performance data current to the most recent month-end, which may be higher or lower than that cited, visit our website at <http://global.vanguard.com>. Note, too, that both investment returns and principal value can fluctuate widely, so an investor's shares, when sold, could be worth more or less than their original cost.

* The tracking difference between the fund return and the index return over a stated period of time can be attributed to a number of factors, including, without limitation, small differences in weightings, trading activity, swing pricing, transaction costs and differences in the valuation and withholding tax treatment between the fund and the index vendor.

The Central Bank of Ireland requires a schedule of material changes in the composition of the portfolio during the year. These are defined as aggregate purchases of a security exceeding 1% of the total value of purchases for the year and aggregate disposals greater than 1% of the total value of sales. At a minimum, the largest 20 purchases and 20 sales must be shown; all purchases and sales must be shown if there are fewer than 20. A full listing of the portfolio changes for the year is available, upon request, at no extra cost from the Administrator.

Vanguard Euro Investment Grade Bond Index Fund

Managed by Vanguard Global Advisers, LLC.

Investment Objective

The fund seeks to provide returns consistent with the performance of the Bloomberg EUR Non-Government Float Adjusted Bond Index, a market-weighted index of euro-denominated, investment-grade fixed income securities, excluding euro zone treasury and government-related securities, with maturities greater than 1 year.

Performance Summary (unaudited)

The Performance Summary does not form part of the Financial Statements.

- Global financial markets performed unevenly for the 12 months ended 31 December 2024.
- Across much of the developed world in the first part of the year, consumer price increases continued to moderate, labour markets remained strong and interest rates appeared to have peaked. With that supportive backdrop and with high hopes for artificial intelligence, stocks gained ground and a number of major market indices hit record highs.
- As the year progressed, investor sentiment was dented at times by some disappointing economic reports, weak readings from the manufacturing sector and a surprise rate hike by the Bank of Japan. The global economy nevertheless continued to expand, and further progress against inflation led a number of Western central banks to cut interest rates. The European Central Bank began to do so in June, the Bank of England in August and the US Federal Reserve in September.
- The fund's benchmark index returned 3.89% for the 12 months.
- Each sector in the index posted positive returns. Corporates performed the best, with all represented subsectors – financial institutions, industrial companies and utilities – posting healthy gains. Securitised assets reported the second-highest sector returns, followed by non-corporates.
- Nearly every country represented in the index posted positive returns. Among the larger markets in the index, Sweden, Italy and Spain performed best.
- Shorter-term bonds reported higher returns than those with longer maturities. From a credit-quality perspective, lower-rated bonds performed best.

Benchmark returns in the commentary above are in euros.

Returns are based on NAV with income reinvested.

All of the returns in this report represent past performance, which is not a guarantee of future results that may be achieved by the fund. For performance data current to the most recent month-end, which may be higher or lower than that cited, visit our website at <http://global.vanguard.com>. Note, too, that both investment returns and principal value can fluctuate widely, so an investor's shares, when sold, could be worth more or less than their original cost.

* The tracking difference between the fund return and the index return over a stated period of time can be attributed to a number of factors, including, without limitation, small differences in weightings, trading activity, swing pricing, transaction costs and differences in the valuation and withholding tax treatment between the fund and the index vendor.

The Central Bank of Ireland requires a schedule of material changes in the composition of the portfolio during the year. These are defined as aggregate purchases of a security exceeding 1% of the total value of purchases for the year and aggregate disposals greater than 1% of the total value of sales. At a minimum, the largest 20 purchases and 20 sales must be shown; all purchases and sales must be shown if there are fewer than 20. A full listing of the portfolio changes for the year is available, upon request, at no extra cost from the Administrator.
