Fund manager's report

Corporate bond market performance was healthy in February. However, what looked like a broad-based UK rally was primarily focused on a few names in some key sectors. There was also some catching up with the year-to-date performance of US and European credit markets, and a firming belief that a hard Brexit is off the table. Much of this catching up was seen in the banking sector, which outperformed the rest of the market. There was a marked recovery in some of the bonds that had underperformed most severely in the fourth quarter of 2018, notably index heavyweight GE and Italian road-toll operator Atlantia.

The Fund marginally underperformed its benchmark. The fund's allocation to lower quality and higher risk areas of the market was beneficial for performance. Banking and insurance were two of the strongest sectors. UK banks outperformed materially after a "no deal" Brexit began to look less likely. As commodities rallied, an overweight position in the energy sector boosted performance. Housing associations lagged and detracted from returns, as issuance appeared to be causing some indigestion. In terms of stock selection, an absence of exposure to GE and AA, which both performed strongly, cost the fund. More positively, holdings in UK retailer Tesco, consumer finance operator Provident Financial and French insurer Axa, all outperformed.

Cash includes cash at bank, outstanding settlements, call account cash, fixed deposits, cash used as margin and profit/losses on both derivative positions and forward currency contracts. Where bonds are split rated between two or more of S&P, Moody's and Fitch, the data shown takes a more conservative approach, splitting lower. In the absence of any agency ratings an internal Fund Manager rating may be applied. The benchmark shown reflects ratings from S&P, Moody's and Fitch only. This may differ from the ratings used by the benchmark provider detailed in the prospectus.

^bThe Ongoing Charge Figure (OCF), is the overall cost shown as a percentage of the value of the assets of the Funds. It is made up of the Annual Management Charge (AMC) of 0.50% and other charges. It does not include any initial charges or the cost of buying and selling stocks for the Funds. The Ongoing Charges figure can help you compare the annual operating expenses of different Funds.

^cThe Distribution Yield reflects the amounts that may be expected to be distributed over the next twelve months as a percentage of the mid-market share price of the fund as at the date shown. The Underlying Yield reflects the annualised income net of expenses and known irrecoverable withholding tax of the fund (calculated in accordance with relevant accounting standards) as a percentage of the mid-market share price of the fund as at the date shown. Both yields are based on a snapshot of the portfolio on the month-end date and are not guaranteed and actual distributions received (where a share class pays distribution) may be higher or lower than the amount stated. They do not include any initial charges and Investors may be subject to tax on distributions. The Distribution Yield is higher than the Underlying Yield because a portion of the fund's expenses are charged to capital. This has the effect of increasing distributions and constraining the fund's capital performance.

Important information

Risk factors you should consider before investing:

- The value of investments and the income from them can go down as well as up and investors may get back less than the amount invested.
- Bonds: Bond valuations are affected by changes in interest rates, inflation and the creditworthiness of the bond issuer. There is a risk that a bond issuer may not be able to repay the money they borrowed nor make their required interest payments. This risk increases for bonds with lower credit ratings. Where a bond market has a low number of buyers and/or a high number of sellers, it may be harder to sell particular bonds at an anticipated price and/or in a timely manner.
- A full list of risks applicable to this Fund can be found in the Prospectus.
