

M&G Global Floating Rate High Yield Fund Sterling Class I-H – Accumulation shares

Monthly Fund Review as at 31 March 2024

For investment professionals only

Highlights

- High yield floating rate notes (HY FRNs) made a positive gain in March, when fixed income overall had a better month, with credit spreads continuing to tighten. Our off-benchmark position in the credit default swap (CDS) index, which we hold for liquidity and diversification purposes, offset some of the negative performance caused by our lack of exposure to banks. Inverted yield curves remain the key opportunity for the strategy, and HY FRNs still provide one of the most attractive risk-reward trade-offs in fixed income, in our view.
- There were four new issues in March, and we participated in three of them. We bought bonds issued by machinery maker Evoca, Italian cardboard packaging maker Reno De Medici, and transport business SGL Group.
- In secondary markets, we topped up existing positions such as Miller Homes (construction), Golden Goose (retail), Guala (packaging), Multiversity (online education), Lottomatica (gaming). Market liquidity and technicals for FRNs remain good, in our opinion.

The main risks associated with this fund

For any past performance shown, please note that past performance is not a guide to future performance.

The value and income from the fund's assets will go down as well as up. This will cause the value of your investment to fall as well as rise. There is no guarantee that the fund will achieve its objective and you may get back less than you originally invested.

Investments in bonds are affected by interest rates, inflation and credit ratings. It is possible that bond issuers will not pay interest or return the capital. All of these events can reduce the value of bonds held by the fund.

High yield bonds usually carry greater risk that the bond issuers may not be able to pay interest or return the capital.

The fund may use derivatives to profit from an expected rise or fall in the value of an asset. Should the asset's value vary in an unexpected way, the fund will incur a loss. The fund's use of derivatives may be extensive and exceed the value of its assets (leverage). This has the effect of magnifying the size of losses and gains, resulting in greater fluctuations in the value of the fund.

The hedging process seeks to minimise, but cannot eliminate, the effect of movements in exchange rates on the performance of the hedged share class. Hedging also limits the ability to gain from favourable movements in exchange rates.

Further risk factors that apply to the fund can be found in the fund's Prospectus.

Where a security has not been rated by Standard & Poor's, Fitch or Moody's, we may use M&G's internal credit rating. Based on a comparison of all available ratings for each security, the most conservative rating (S&P, Fitch, Moody's or M&G's internal rating) is taken into consideration. The ratings so identified are then expressed or converted into M&G's ratings format to obtain uniform information for all securities in the portfolio.
