Commentary

January began in a similarly positive vein as 2020 ended before markets dipped towards the end of the month. The Brexit deal may have been signed but we have already seen some trade issues and there remains much work to be done. In the US, new presidents typically enjoy a spell of strong market performance, but equities are already near all-time highs. However, we would still expect markets to react favourably to President Biden's significant fiscal stimulus, his multilateral trade agenda and plans for stepping up vaccine rollout. The latter point is key to eliminating Covid-19 but despite some progress that remains a rather distant hope at present with large parts of the world back in lockdown. More encouraging is the slight upgrade to global growth forecasts. Despite serious ongoing risks, the government spending measures in the US and Japan are positives, with growth estimates for both significantly upgraded as a result. In contrast, activity in Britain and the euro area is expected to remain below pre-pandemic levels into 2022. The value style of investing has shown signs of improving in recent months, and we believe it will benefit from a faster than expected economic and market recovery. In January we therefore reduced our exposure to Ardevora UK Equity and BlackRock UK Index, and opened a new position in JOHCM UK Equity Income. Given some of the volatility in markets during January, we also allowed the cash allocation to increase slightly.

RISK AND REWARD INDICATOR

Potentially
lower reward

Potentially
higher reward

This risk indicator is based on historical data and may not be a reliable indication of the future risk profile. The category may shift over time and is not guaranteed.

Funds of category 6 have shown in the past a medium to high volatility. The volatility describes how much the value of the fund went up and down in the past. The shares of a fund of category 6 might be subject to medium to high price fluctuations based on the historical volatility observed.

The following are additional risks not covered by the risk and reward category:

Credit Risk: There is a risk that an investment will fail to make required payments and this may reduce the income paid to the fund, or its capital value.

Counterparty Risk: The insolvency of any institutions providing services such as safekeeping of assets or acting as counterparty to derivatives or other instruments, may expose the Fund to financial loss.

Liquidity Risk: If underlying funds suspend or defer the payment of redemption proceeds, the Fund's ability to meet redemption requests may also be affected.

Interest Rate Risk: Fluctuations in interest rates may affect the value of the Fund and your investment.

Derivatives Risk: Some of the underlying funds may invest in derivatives, which can, in some circumstances, create wider fluctuations in their prices over time.

Emerging Markets: The Fund may invest in less economically developed markets (emerging markets) which can involve greater risks than well developed economies.

Important information

Yield is the amount of income generated by a fund's investment in relation to the price shown as an annual percentage.

The Annual Management Charge (AMC), is a charge taken from the fund. The charge is expressed as a percentage per annum but is normally taken daily from the fund and is calculated based on the value of funds under management. Normally the fund manager reserves the right to review the level of charge.

The Ongoing Charges Figure (OCF), is a charge you'll pay over a year for as long as you hold your investment, it is made up of the Annual Management Charge (AMC) and other operating costs. Other charges may occur.
