The figures shown relate to past performance. Past performance is no guarantee of future results. Fund performance is the performance of the share class since its inception, shown net of fees including re-invested dividends in the base currency of the share class. The return may increase or decrease as a result of currency fluctuations. The share class was launched less than 5 years ago, therefore performance for some periods is not available.

Benchmark: The S&P 500 Index is an unmanaged index of 500 stocks used to measure large-cap U.S. stock market performance.

¹The ongoing charges figure is based on the Fund's annual management fee, whereby the Investment Manager is responsible for the costs involved in running the Fund. In the event that the Fund's running costs exceed the stated figure the Investment Manager shall pay the excess from its own assets. The ongoing charges figure excludes portfolio transaction costs. Details of the transaction costs are available from your broker or financial advisor and at www.ftgportfolios.com. The figure may vary from year to year.

Index Description

- The Indxx Blockchain Index tracks the performance of exchange-listed companies across the globe that are either actively using, investing in, developing, or have products that are poised to benefit from blockchain technology. The index seeks to include only companies that have devoted material resources to the use of blockchain technologies.
- Each security in the index must meet certain eligibility criteria based on liquidity, size and trading minimums.
- Eligible securities are classified into the following three categories: i. Tier One: Active Enablers – Companies actively developing blockchain technology products or systems for their own internal use and for the sale and support of other companies; companies that are direct service providers for blockchain technology; or, companies that have business models that rely on delivering products or services that use blockchain technology. Companies in this category are assigned a score of 1; ii. Tier Two: Active Users – Companies that are using blockchain technology that is generally supported by an Active Enabler or have at least one use or test case of using blockchain technology. Companies in this category are assigned a score of 2; iii. Tier Three: Active Explorers – Companies that have publicly disclosed that they are active in exploring the incorporation of blockchain technology into their business or have a press release on their website or a news article stating that they have started working on the blockchain technology space. These companies do not have at least one use case or test case on blockchain technology and are not currently directly incorporating blockchain technology into their business. Companies in this category are assigned a score of 3.
- Companies with a score of 1 or 2 are selected for the index and weighted with Active Enablers receiving 50% and Active Users receiving 50%. The selected companies are weighted equally within each category. The index is capped at 100 constituents.
- A maximum weighting of 0.50% is applied to constituents in the Active Enabler category with a market cap of less than $500 million, as well as a 20 day and 3 month average daily turnover volume of less than $3 million.
- The index is reconstituted and rebalanced semi-annually.

Risks

- The Fund's shares may change in value and may go down as well as up. You could lose money by investing in the Fund.
- The Fund is subject to market risk. Market risk is the risk that a particular security, or shares of the Fund in general, may fall in value. Securities are subject to market fluctuations caused by such factors as economic, political, regulatory or market developments, changes in interest rates and perceived trends in securities prices. Shares of the Fund could decline in value or underperform other investments due to short-term market movements or any longer periods during more prolonged market downturns. In addition, local, regional or global events such as war, acts of terrorism, spread of infectious diseases or other public health issues, recessions, or other events could have a significant negative impact on a Fund and its investments. Such events may affect certain geographic regions, countries, sectors and industries more significantly than others. Such events could adversely affect the prices and liquidity of a Fund's portfolio securities or other instruments and could result in disruptions in the trading markets. Any of such circumstances could have a materially negative impact on the value of a Fund's shares and result in increased market volatility. During any such events, a Fund's shares may trade at increased premiums or discounts to their net asset value.
- The prices of equity securities fluctuate for numerous reasons, including changes in investors' perceptions of the financial condition of an issuer or the general condition of the relevant stock market, such as market volatility, or when political or economic events affecting the issuers occur.
- If the Fund has lower average daily trading volumes, it may rely on a small number of third-party market makers to provide a market for the purchase and sale of shares.
- The Fund may invest in depositary receipts which may be less liquid than the underlying shares in their primary trading market.
- The Fund currently has fewer assets than larger funds, and like other relatively new Funds, large inflows and outflows may impact the fund's market exposure for limited periods of time.
- Diversification does not guarantee a profit or protect against loss.
- Blockchain technology is an entirely new and relatively untested technology and may never be implemented to a scale that provides identifiable economic benefit to the companies included in the index. Blockchain systems could be vulnerable to fraud. There is little regulation of blockchain technology and because blockchain technology systems may operate across many national boundaries and regulatory jurisdictions, it is possible that it may be subject to widespread and inconsistent regulation. The values of the companies included in the index may not be a reflection of their connection to blockchain technology, but may be based on other business operations. Currently, blockchain technology is primarily used for the recording of transactions in digital currency, which are extremely speculative, unregulated and volatile. Because digital assets registered in a blockchain do not have a standardized exchange, like a stock market, there is less liquidity for such assets and greater possibility of fraud or manipulation.
- As the use of Internet technology has become more prevalent in the course of business, the strategy has become more susceptible to potential operational risks through breaches in cyber security.
- The outbreak of the respiratory disease designated as COVID-19 in December 2019 has caused significant volatility and declines in global financial markets, which have caused losses for investors. While the development of vaccines has slowed the spread of the virus and allowed for the resumption of "reasonably" normal business activity in many developed countries, many also continue to impose lockdown measures in an attempt to slow the spread. Additionally, there is no guarantee that vaccines will be effective against emerging variants of the disease.
- The Fund may invest in securities issued by companies concentrated in a particular industry or sector, or only in a specific geographical area, which involves additional risks including limited diversification.
- The Fund may invest in small capitalization and mid capitalization companies. Such companies may experience greater price volatility than larger, more established companies.
- Neither First Trust Global Portfolios Management Limited ("FTGPM") nor any of its affiliates, guarantees the performance or the future returns of the Fund.
- For more details relating to risks of investing in the Fund, please refer to the "Risk Factors" section of the Fund's prospectus.
