Commentary

The ongoing situation in Ukraine has dominated market sentiment and caused significantly higher levels of volatility. This is expected to have an impact on global corporate and consumer confidence, particularly given the likely impact on oil prices. The price of oil is already above $100 per barrel, the highest since August 2014, and a prolonged spell of energy inflation could mean overall higher inflation takes longer to dissipate. The combination of these issues has seen markets, including the technology heavy Nasdaq in the US fall into bear territory, down over 20% from its recent highs. However, most other major markets have fared better. Depending on how things develop, we may see central banks tread more carefully in terms of expected interest rate rises. While the general direction of rates will ultimately be upwards, whatever happens in Europe, our view is that the pace of hiking will be slower than consensus has priced in. We believe that periods such as these demonstrate the importance of having a robust and disciplined multi-asset process which enables our investment team to make good long-term decisions rather than focusing on short-term, sentiment driven volatility. Whilst the UK equity market held up relatively well due to its exposure to large cap mining, energy and healthcare companies, the fund underperformed the broader market due to its quality growth exposures. That said, Evenlode Income was our best performing fund thanks to excellent returns on a number of stocks as well as its exposure to healthcare. In contrast, Lindsell Train UK Equity struggled over the month on its bias to tech and consumer discretionary companies. Over the month, we did raise cash levels slightly by trimming some of our UK mid cap exposure via iShares Mid Cap UK Equity.

RISK AND REWARD INDICATOR

Potentially
lower reward

Potentially
higher reward

This risk indicator is based on historical data and may not be a reliable indication of the future risk profile. The category may shift over time and is not guaranteed.

Funds of category 6 have shown in the past a medium to high volatility. The volatility describes how much the value of the fund went up and down in the past. The shares of a fund of category 6 might be subject to medium to high price fluctuations based on the historical volatility observed.

The following are additional risks not covered by the risk and reward category:

Credit Risk: There is a risk that an investment will fail to make required payments and this may reduce the income paid to the fund, or its capital value.

Counterparty Risk: The insolvency of any institutions providing services such as safekeeping of assets or acting as counterparty to derivatives or other instruments, may expose the Fund to financial loss.

Liquidity Risk: If underlying funds suspend or defer the payment of redemption proceeds, the Fund's ability to meet redemption requests may also be affected.

Interest Rate Risk: Fluctuations in interest rates may affect the value of the Fund and your investment.

Derivatives Risk: Some of the underlying funds may invest in derivatives, which can, in some circumstances, create wider fluctuations in their prices over time.

Emerging Markets: The Fund may invest in less economically developed markets (emerging markets) which can involve greater risks than well developed economies.

Important information

Yield is the amount of income generated by a fund's investment in relation to the price shown as an annual percentage.

The Annual Management Charge (AMC), is a charge taken from the fund. The charge is expressed as a percentage per annum but is normally taken daily from the fund and is calculated based on the value of funds under management. Normally the fund manager reserves the right to review the level of charge.

The Ongoing Charges Figure (OCF), is a charge you'll pay over a year for as long as you hold your investment, it is made up of the Annual Management Charge (AMC) and other operating costs. Other charges may occur.

Under fixed Administration Fees, the Operating Expenses are paid directly by Liontrust and we are reimbursed by each fund at a flat rate per year out of their respective net asset values. The OCF is made up of the AMC plus the fixed Administration Fees. In some periods, the Operating Expenses paid by Liontrust may be more than the Administration Fees collected by Liontrust from a fund. If this is the case, Liontrust will pay the difference from its own resources. Conversely, in some periods, the Administration Fees may be higher than the Operating Expenses, in which case Liontrust will retain the difference. As the funds in which you are invested grow in assets, the fixed Administration Fees are reduced.

There is no certainty the investment objectives of the portfolio will actually be achieved and no warranty or representation is given to this effect. The portfolios therefore should be considered as a medium to long-term investment.
