Fund investment objective and policy

The objective of the Fund is to achieve income and capital growth over the medium to long-term (3 to 5 years plus). The Fund invests through a flexible allocation to corporate and government debt securities (which may be investment grade, non-investment grade or have no credit rating) and cash. The Fund can potentially be fully invested in cash and near cash instruments depending on market conditions. The Fund may use derivatives (complex instruments) for investment purposes and to manage the Fund more efficiently, with the aim of reducing risk, reducing costs and/or generating additional capital or income.

Fund strategy

The fund has a flexible approach that aims to align risk and reward across bond markets as the opportunity set changes. This means that at times when we think that risk is not well rewarded the fund can hold large allocations to cash or cash equivalents. Equally, when we do think there is opportunity, we can quickly dial up the fund's risk. This flexibility is central to the fund's approach.

Investment risks

- The value of investments and any income will fluctuate (this may partly be the result of exchange rate fluctuations) and investors may not get back the full amount invested.
- The securities that the Fund invests in may not always make interest and other payments nor is the solvency of the issuers guaranteed. Market conditions, such as a decrease in market liquidity for the securities in which the Fund invests, may mean that the Fund may not be able to sell those securities at their true value. These risks increase where the Fund invests in high yield or lower credit quality bonds.
- As the fund can rapidly change its holdings across the fixed income and debt spectrum and cash, this can increase its risk profile.
- The fund has the ability to make significant use of financial derivatives (complex instruments) which may result in the fund being leveraged and can result in large fluctuations in the value of the fund. Leverage on certain types of transactions including derivatives may impair the fund's liquidity, cause it to liquidate positions at unfavourable times or otherwise cause the fund not to achieve its intended objective. Leverage occurs when the economic exposure created by the use of derivatives is greater than the amount invested resulting in the fund being exposed to a greater loss than the initial investment.
- The fund may be exposed to counterparty risk should an entity with which the fund does business become insolvent resulting in financial loss.
- The fund may invest in contingent convertible bonds which may result in significant risk of capital loss based on certain trigger events.
- The fund's performance may be adversely affected by variations in interest rates.
- The fund has the ability to invest more than 35% of its value in securities issued by a single government or public international body.
- As a result of COVID-19, markets have seen a noticeable increase in volatility as well as, in some cases, lower liquidity levels; this may continue and may increase these risks in the future.

Important information

² The yield shown is expressed as % per annum of current NAV of the fund. It is an estimate for the next 12 months, assuming that the fund's portfolio remains unchanged and there are no defaults or deferrals of coupon payments or capital repayments. It is not guaranteed. It is shown net of the ongoing charge. Investors may be subject to tax on distributions. Cash income is estimated coupons from bonds and, where applicable, estimated dividends from equities. The distribution yield estimates the cash distribution to the shareholders: in addition to expected cash income, it includes the amortised annual value of unrealised capital gains/losses of current bond holdings, calculated with reference to their historic purchase price and expected redemption value (known as 'effective yield from purchase price' method). For this fund the distribution yield is the same as the underlying yield.

Where, in the Manager's judgement, there is significant uncertainty that a bond holding will be redeemed at par, the amortised capital component for that holding is retained in the fund's capital and not distributed. This has the effect of reducing the estimated distribution and underlying yields and the actual distribution rate.
