Fund Objective and Strategy

The investment objective of the Fund is to seek to achieve an annual compounding rate of return over the long term, defined as 5-10 years, which is superior to the median performance of all of the funds forming the official peer group of which the Fund is part. 'Peer group' is defined as being the Investment Association sector to which the Fund has been allocated (currently being the UK All Companies Sector) or to which it may be allocated in future, as determined by that body. Investments will be made principally in UK equities with strong operating franchises and experienced management teams, applying the methodology of Business Perspective Investing.

Fund Commentary

During May, the Fund's Income (I) class and Accumulation (J) share classes fell by 3.3%, the former from 324.93p to 314.12p and the latter from 131.25p to 126.89p. This compared to a rise of 0.4% for the UK stock market and an increase of 0.1% for the IA UK All Companies sector, the Fund's benchmark. Whilst the relative performance was disappointing, the song remains the same: performance is more down to what we aren't invested in than what we are invested in. Market drivers in May, as for much of 2022, continued to be from areas of the stock market to which we have no exposure, such as Oil, Gas & Coal and Tobacco. In fact, there were only six out of 38 sectors with positive returns in the UK broad based market, none of which we have investments in. Net outflows totalled £44m during the month.

There were 12 company updates in May, containing a mix of interim and full-year results, updates on proposed acquisitions and board changes. There were six gainers in the Fund and 25 losers. The best performer was NCC Group (+17.6%) on the back of a strong trading update and changing of the guard. It was announced that after over four years with the business, Adam Palsler would be stepping down as CEO to be replaced by Mike Maddison, who is currently head of EY's cyber security for EMEA and comes with strong credentials. It was also announced that there was to be a full operational review of the Software Resilience division following the IPM acquisition, giving rise to an expected £5m of cost savings coming through in 2024. Our take on all this is that under Chairman Chris Stone, there is a renewed urgency and determination to drive the business forwards. We are therefore positive about developments here.

The second best performer was HomeServe (+16.7%), which confirmed a recommended cash offer from Brookfield Infrastructure Funds following offer talks that had been announced in March. The market most certainly left plenty on the table on this one – the 1.200p offer represents a 71% premium to the undisturbed closing price of HomeServe on 23 March, the day prior to the offer period being announced. We are conditioned to dislike takeovers of our businesses as it robs us of the wonderful long-term compounding opportunity. And so it is with HomeServe where the short-termism of public equity markets has once again gifted one of our businesses to private equity. The preliminary results posted in mid-May reinforced this with continued strong growth in the US and the transformation of its UK business bearing fruit. If there is one crumb of comfort from this experience it is that our holding is worth nigh on £30m that will be liquidated into cash upon completion, which is expected during the fourth quarter. The irony, however, is that we repeatedly warned about the stock market having driven down valuations of so many good companies in its current dash-for-trash phase.

So, it was with some relief that RWS Holdings confirmed during the month that its own takeover talks, first announced in April and again with private equity, had ceased. We fear there is more P2P (public-to-private) activity to come. We look at some of our good cash generative businesses sat on lowly valuations and worry about their fate. NCC was one such company, not now we hope, with RM, PayPoint and Team17 certainly falling into that category.

The biggest detractors were Craneware (-19.1%) and AB Dynamics (-18.0%), both moves in the absence of any newsflow or apparent justification. AB Dynamics had been the Fund's best performer in April as it recovered from an earlier forced seller's activity accompanied by its interim results pointing to full-year results likely to be ahead of expectations. We are sometimes asked why a share price has moved a certain way during the month and are reminded of the classic market maker response: "more sellers than buyers". We can often think of no more apposite riposte. Trying to justify short-term price action is a fool's errand. The time is better spent on fundamental company analysis.
